Summation & Last Reflections:

For the productive person giving has a different meaning from the person who does not give freely without want of a return. Giving is the highest level of potency. During the very act of giving we experience strength and spiritual alertness. The experience of giving heightens vitality and delivers joy. We experience ourselves as overflowing, alive and joyous.

Giving is more joyous than receiving - not because it is a deprivation or sacrifice - but because in the very act of giving lies the expression of our aliveness.

Brother Day, our team thanks you for sharing your personality and inner spiritual strength with us as we worked together at your home.

We all walked away with more than we gave. Enjoy!

With respect to your service we close this report better off than we were prior to joining together to work and fellowship at your home.

God bless you and Debbie.
